WHAT A CONGRESSMAN SEES

By J. Hampton Moore
A Weekly Letter Touching on the Washington Doings of Personalities Familiar to Philadelphians

Washington, June 29.
RUMORS that the Nonpartisan League, a Northwestern farmers' organization, has invaded Pennsylvania have caused the politicians to examine their fences.

THOMAS S. BUTLER, dean of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress, father of Colonel Smedley Butler, the "Hell Devil" of the marine corps, is the ranking Republican on the Committee on Naval Affairs.

SOMETHING along the Potomac attracts James H. Eckersley, of Tulpehocken street, Twenty-second Ward. Whether it is a big land deal which may be the same thing, no one seems to know.

THERE are two George W. Morris's down here. One is the senior Senator from Nebraska and the other is George, the Philadelphian, who heads the Federal Farm Loan Bureau.

BACK in the days when Arthur Richard was Mayor of Morrow, the financial wizard of City Councils was taking prizes for Greek at the University of Pennsylvania.

CITED FOR BRAVERY
Samuel D. McCain, of 2708 North Fourth street, is one of the latest Philadelphians to win war honors in France.

NOT content with passing an anti-profiteering law against District of Columbia landlords, the chairman of the committee on the Judiciary, John C. Grier, of the Eighteenth Ward, who is one of the leaders of the Corinthian Yacht Club, does not have to be content with that.

Baltimore, June 29.—One hundred members of the International Association of Clothing Designers have pledged themselves to the support of recommendations by the war industries board that will mean the making of an almost standardized garment, so sweeping were the resolutions eliminating all cutting and making of men's and boys' clothes that could tend to waste either material or labor.

STANDARDIZATION

In England and America, for many years, the thought of standardization has been closely linked to the name Cadillac. But it is mortally afraid of big figures when part is fitted into part. Standardization laughs at millions—and worries over a loose bolt. To the unthinking, it seems to talk in the language of the spendthrift. The initiated know that in execution, it is the very essence of economy. Standardization can be applied to base ends—but, in America, it should not be. When it seeks volume alone, it is merely the apotheosis of brute force—the perpetuation of cheapness. But when standardization and quality are wed—the fruit is a product superlatively fine. Standardized ships and guns and aeroplanes and motor cars are speeding across the ocean to save the world. War has shed new lustre on America's wonder-working word. We feel that we may with propriety point out that this wonder-working word has also been a watch-word of these works since the Cadillac business began.
